A Ranger Recollects

The year is 1859. We are now visiting a man who has had many adventures and experiences in the Young West of a growing America. Please take the small chair on the veranda. You will notice the mayor and the editor of the local newspaper. They are here among the many guests to listen to our hero as he spins his true story.

"At the time of my arrival in Texas, the country was in an unsettled state. For a long period of time a system of border warfare had existed between the citizens of Texas and Mexico — growing out of the Declaration of Independence on the part of the young Republic. Marauding parties from beyond the Rio Grande kept the settlers of western Texas in a state of constant agitation and excitement.

Besides these annoyances, the inhabitants of others sections were perpetually on the alert to defend themselves against the Indians. This condition of affairs necessarily resulted into a desire to have strong protection. So the Texas Rangers were created, a military order as peculiar as it has become famous.

The qualifications necessary in a genuine Ranger was not, in many respects, such as are required in the ordinary soldier. Discipline, in the common acceptance of the term, was not regarded as absolutely necessary. A fleet horse, an eye that could detect the trail, a power of endurance that defied fatigue, and the faculty of "looking through the double sights of his rifle with a steady arm" — these distinguished the Ranger, rather than any special knowledge of tactics. He was subjected to no "regulation uniform." However, his usual clothing were buckskin moccasins and overhauls, a round-about and red shirt, and a cap manufactured by his own hands from the skins of the coon or wildcat; also two or three revolvers and a bowie knife in his belt and a short rifle on his arm.

In this guise, and well mounted, he could cover eighty miles between the rising and setting sun. And then gathering his blanket around him, lie down upon the prairie grass with his saddle for a pillow. The compensation received from the government at that time was one dollar a day. Finding no other employment which seemed to me more remunerative or attractive I joined Captain Cameron at San Patricio.

Captain Cameron was a Scotchman, a noble and brave man, who very early in his life had left his native country and established himself on the banks of the Nueces. During the disturbances which distracted the country, his intelligence, chivalry and force of character drew the attention of his fellow citizens towards him. They felt he was one upon whom they might lean for protection.

His company consisted of forty-five men. My first experience in Indian warfare was an engagement with a roving band of Comanches whom we suddenly encountered near Casa Blanca, during one of our excursions beyond the Nueces. They were put to flight after a sharp exchange of bullets on one side and arrows on the other. Not however, until I had become most emphatically impressed with a true sense of their brave and warlike character. They are a numerous and powerful tribe whose range extends from the headwaters of the Guadalupe to the base of the Rocky Mountains.

A short time subsequent to this adventure we obtained information that a considerable body of Mexicans had crossed the border and were somewhere in our vicinity. While on the lookout for them, we met the forces under General Davis at Panta Clan one day. His company having listened to extravagant rumors relative to the great numbers of Mexicans on the march, had become alarmed. During the night, most of them flocked to our encampment near by. We were all discussing the probable whereabouts of the enemy.

And where were they? At this very time, that we were trying to figure out their location, they were crawling into the camp. They seized every description of property they could lay their hands on, and retired without loss or molestation. The next morning they presented themselves and offered battle. Though far outnumbering our united forces, we compelled them to retreat after a battle of two hours. And we took from them, in addition to the spoils of the previous night, more than forty mules.

It was not long after the Panta Clan engagement, while we were in the vicinity of Seguin, that Ben McCullough, with sixteen others, including myself, were detached from the main body of Rangers, and sent out as spies. McCullough was a brave fellow — a tall straight man, over six feet high, rawboned, light sandy hair, extremely reserved in manner, with keen black eyes that shone like diamonds.

We presently struck a wide trail leading to the south, and following it soon came in sight of some seven hundred Comanches near the Lavaca River. Unable to cope with so formidable a body, we hovered in their vicinity, keeping them constantly under observation. They continued their march in the direction of the coast until they reached at length the settlement of Lindville on Matagorda Bay. This they attacked and burned. They killed some persons and took others away as prisoners.

From a distant height we witnessed this affair, entirely unable to render any effectual resistance. Runners, however, were dispatched in hot haste to General Burleson on the Colorado, conveying information of what had happened, and requesting reinforcements at once. True to his chivalrous nature, General Burleson, who never waited a second call when danger was to be met, sent forward as many men as he could. So that by the time he had tracked the marauders on their retreat as far as Plum Creek, our numbers had increased to three hundred.

In concluding upon the plan of attack, our great object was to rescue the prisoners. It was ascertained as we anticipated, that they were with the old warriors in the rear of the encampment. A portion of our force, accordingly, made a wide circuit, and then quickly made the attack. They managed to rescue alive two of the prisoners.

As I approached with another detachment of my comrades from a different direction, a buckshot struck me near the elbow passing up the arm to the shoulder blade where it yet remains. It was my bridle arm, causing me to drop the rein and consequently my horse started to carry me into the midst of the enemy! Seeing my perilous situation, the Rangers rushed after me without awaiting the word of command. There was a terrible confusion but it ended in victory for our side. We also recovered all the property stolen from Lindville.

My six months' term of service under Cameron now expired. And bidding him farewell, I journeyed to San Antonio, and from there to Seguin on the Guadalupe where I had taken up my residence. The business I adopted for a livelihood was then a common one in that region, the capturing of wild horses. And after breaking them to the saddle or harness, we disposed of them to the planters. Sometimes I purchased from the Mexicans those horses which had already been subdued. And collecting a drove I would set out on a sort of horse-peddling speculation.

Frequently those trips extended into Louisiana where profitable customers were generally to be found among the cotton and sugar growers on the bayous. They usually cost me when purchased, four or five dollars a head and were sold for a price ranging from fifteen to thirty. So that with industry and good luck, it was capable of being made a profitable occupation.

I had arranged with Ben McCullough to go on the famous Santa Fe Expedition. In fact, I accompanied it a long distance above Austin, but there I became prostrated with a violent attack of chills and fever. I was induced most reluctantly to turn back. So retracing my steps to Austin, I lingered idly in the neighborhood of the Colorado until health returned. Perhaps it was fortunate for me that all this happened. For the Santa Fe Expedition had an unfortunate end.

Then came another call to arms. Thus I entered on my second campaign as a Texas Ranger by joining Jack Hays at San Antonio. When we meet again I shall tell you more of my adventures as a member of the Texas Rangers. It is not praise I give to myself when I say to you, that man for man, the finest mounted fighters or soldier in the entire world is a Texas Ranger.

I regret having to stop now, but you can understand that rest is necessary for me. For I have not completely recovered from my wounds which I suffered fighting the Indians and the Mexicans."

I'M JOININ' THE BOYS ON THE RANGE... AN EXTRA GUN OUT THERE WILL HELP, JUST IN CASE!

YOUNG PAT'S HUNCH ABOUT THE RUSTLERS WAS ALL TOO ACCURATE!

WE'RE GONNA GRAB ANOTHER FIFTY HEAD OF OLD MAN PHELPS' HERD! THEY'LL NEVER FIND THIS HIDE-OUT! MOUNT UP, BOYS! WE'RE RIDIN'!

LATER...

RIDERS, PAT, DO YOU SUPPOSE?

IT'S THEM ALL RIGHT, SAM! GET THE SHERIFF... AND TELL MY FATHER TOO!

SCARE THEM WRANGLERS OFF, BOYS!

TAKE COVER BEHIND THOSE ROCKS!

THIS FRACAS WILL BRING EVERY RANCHER 'ROUND HERE ON THE RUN! RIDE... BACK TO THE HIDEOUT!

LATER...

WE DROVE THEM OFF SHERIFF... THEY HEADED FOR THE RIVER!

WE'LL TRY TO PICK UP THEIR TRAIL!

JUST LIKE THE OTHER TIME! TRACKS TO THE RIVER'S EDGE... BUT WHERE DID THEY GO FROM HERE?

YOUNG MIKE MATSON AND I USED TO SWIM UNDER THE WATERFALL WHEN WE WERE KIDS! I THINK I HAVE THE ANSWER TO THIS LITTLE MYSTERY!

YOU SEE, THE FALLS CONCEAL A WIDE OPENING THRU THE HILL, INTO A HIDDEN CANYON!

TEX RITTER WESTERN

YOU WERE RIGHT, SON! THERE'S MY HERD!

THEY'VE FOUND US! TAKE CARE OF 'EM!

THE LEADER OF THE RUSTLERS SHOUTED IN RAGE, AS HE SAW HIS PLANS BLOW UP IN GUNSMOKE!

PAT PHELPS! ONLY YOU WOULD KNOW ABOUT THIS PLACE! I'M GONNA...

I SHOULD'VE KNOWN YOU WERE BEHIND THIS RUSTLING, MIKE!

MOMENTS LATER, IT WAS ALL OVER!

MIKE AND I GREW UP TOGETHER! WE USED TO BE FRIENDS MIKE... WHY DID YOU DO IT?

NEBBE I NEVER SHOWED IT BUT I WAS JEALOUS OF YUH... YUH ALWAYS HAD THE BEST HORSES TO RIDE... THE FANCIEST SADDLES! CUTTIN' INTO YORE OLD MAN'S HERD WAS MY WAY OF GETTIN' EVEN!

I TRIED TO BE A GOOD FRIEND, MIKE... I'M SORRY YOU DECIDED TO TRAVEL A CROOKED TRAIL!

TEX RITTER IN OUTLAW LEAD

THE STAGE COACHES WERE THE LIFELINES OF THE OLD WEST! THEY SPANNED THE FAR REACHES, THEY BROUGHT PEOPLE, NEWS... AND THEY BROUGHT OUTLAWS! FOR THE STAGES CARRIED GOLD TOO! IT WAS THE OUTLAWS THAT BROUGHT TEX TO TAGS... AND TO THE MOST DANGEROUS ASSIGNMENT HE EVER UNDERTOOK!

TEX RITTER WESTERN

TEX RITTER WESTERN

TEX SIGNED IN AT THE HOTEL! THEN, AS NIGHT FELL THE STREET WITH SHADOWS, HE LEFT THE HOTEL AND HEADED FOR THE RESTAURANT!

POW!

RECKON WE'LL PUT ON THE FEROBAG AN'...

THAT SHOT CAME FROM THIS ALLEY! IF I HADN'T STOPPED TO PET FURY IT WOULD'VE BEEN LIGHTS OUT!

AS HE REACHED THE ALLEY HOOFBEATS RUSHED, DIMINISHING INTO THE DARKNESS!

RECKON WHOEVER THE DIRTY BUSHWHACKER WAS, HAD HIS HORSE NANDY AN' LIT OUT! I'LL GET WHITE FLASH AND FURY!

ALL RIGHT, FURY, PICK UP THOSE TRACKS! TRAIL HIM, BOY!

THE BIG, INTELLIGENT SHEPHERD, NOSED CLOSE TO THE GROUND, SPED AWAY, TRAILING...

HERE'S WHERE HIS HORSE WAS TIED! ALL RIGHT, FURY, PICK UP THE HORSE'S TRAIL NOW!

INTO THE NIGHT THEY WENT, TRAILING THE BUSHWHACKER TOWARD THE LOOMING MOUNTAINS!

I FIGURE WHOEVER TOOK THAT SHOT AT ME MUST BE ONE OF THE HOLDUP GANG! HE MISSED SO HE LIT OUT TO WARN THE OTHERS ABOUT ME... AN' TO DO THAT HE'LL HAVE TO HEAD FOR THE GANG'S SECRET HIDEOUT!
